

(Brussels, 31 January 2013)

Egmont – Royal Institute for International Relations performs well, especially considering the existing competition from powerful think tanks. Over the last few years, the Egmont Institute has irresistibly climbed in the international rankings. According to the “2012 Global Go-To Think Tank Report”, published by the Pennsylvania University-Philadelphia, Egmont has been ranked:

- 31st position (on 1836 institutions) in the European list of think tanks
- 83rd position (on 4684 institutions) among non US think tanks
- 114th position at the global level (among 6603 competitors).

Your confidence and support for the Egmont Institute are well founded and we are proud that the quality and the relevance of our research is continuously improving. We hope to pursue this trend in 2013! Thank you once again for your support.

You can help us to progress by participating to our conferences and sharing our publications widely, as well as through a small donation to the Institute (which is non-refundable due to our legal status). If you wish to do so, please use our account number:
