

Heidi Rombouts recently joined Plan International Belgium as managing director. She has over 20 years of experience in international cooperation and human rights work. She combines policy expertise with operational implementation skills and worked with a variety of organisations ranging from academic and policy institutes, civil society, bilateral cooperation and multilateral institutions. Her last assignment prior to joining Plan International Belgium was with the World Bank in Washington DC as a board official. Her work enabled her to meet inspiring activists around the globe fighting for the betterment of the lives of others. They nurture her leadership today. She holds a Master of Laws, Master in Sociology and a PhD in Social and Political Sciences.